SURS' ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS RECEIVED

August 9, 2017

Question:

1. Will our firm be in non-compliance if we do not submit the requested side letter sample? We are concerned about our clients' privacy.

Answer: Your firm needs to decide what it feels comfortable submitting but if the RFP requires a sample side letter you certainly run the risk of non-compliance if you do not submit one. You can submit a redacted sample side letter that does not identify your client.
